Britain Spurns French Plan to Scuttle NATO

U. S. Ties Considered Too Valuable

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary Michel Stewart said today Britain refused to trade its friendship with the United States for a European trade alliance with French President Charles de Gaulle.

Stewart's statement was the first by a British government official since Friday's disclosure, on the eve of President Nixon's trip to Europe—that De Gaulle had sought British help to form a new alliance that would scuttle the European Common Market and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

French Foreign Minister Michel Debre denied the report and criticized Britain for releasing it.

Stewart told a seminar of the Fabian Society, a socialist, intellectual group: "We cannot accept what appears to be Gen. De Gaulle's thesis that friendship and alliance with America is necessarily the same as dependence on America."

Stewart defended the policy of Western European allies on maintaining close ties with the Americans.

"Only Democracy" — "The United States alone among the super powers in the world is a democracy. For example, people who disagree with the policy of the U.S. government on Vietnam can and do say so," he said.

"This is one very powerful reason why we should want good British-American relations and it is one powerful reason behind the existence of NATO."

In the British version of the French proposal, De Gaulle was quoted as saying France alone of the Western European states had established a position of total independence from the United States. British sources quoted him as saying that the pro-Americanism of France's European friends represents the main obstacle to a true European unity and independence.

The French president also was said to have urged Britain to join with France in talks aimed at achieving a consensus in defense, economic, political and monetary policies for Europe. Debre denied this.

Whether true or not, the report shook Common Market members who feel De Gaulle no longer has faith in the economic alliance. Diplomatic sources predicted the market cannot continue operating in its present form without French support, particularly as the six member nations are already deadlocked over De Gaulle's refusal to let Britain join the trade pact.

Free Trade Area — Qualified informants in London said the French president confided his plan to British Ambassador Christopher Soames 18 days ago. They said it called for a loose European free trade

Number of Bills Introduced

Legislators Zero in on Disorders

MADISON (AP)—As a young man's mind turns to thoughts of romance in the spring, the Wisconsin Legislature has turned its attention to the University of Wisconsin.

The love-hate relationship which has recently characterized the two reached something of a high point with the introduction of a number of bills designed to curb violent demonstrations at public universities.

Several were outlined by Gov. Warren P. Knowles, and many were the work of a group of powerful GOP lawmakers who have threatened to crack down on unruly students.

National Guard units which had been called to the University of Wisconsin during a week-long student strike also patrolled the halls of the Capitol as bills poured into both houses, dealing severely with campus violence.

In the package submitted at the request of Knowles, it would be both grounds for expulsion and a misdemeanor to engage in "disruptive conduct" on campus.

Faculty or staff participants could be ousted and rehired only at the option of the regents. Another item would prohibit the use of voice amplification equipment—such as bullhorns—on campus without prior authorization.

In a voice vote, the Senate gave speedy approval to a joint committee to investigate the operation of all public universities.

The measure was initiated by Sen. Gordon Roseleip, R-Darlington, a consistent critic of "over permissiveness" at the state's schools.

Hearing Not Held

Another bill passed by the Senate 29-1 would remove state aid for two years from any student convicted of campus-connected disorders. The lone dissenter, Sen. Fred Riser, D-Madison, complained that a public hearing, which had been scheduled, was never held.

In the Assembly, a wide range of bills was introduced, many of which would require expulsion upon conviction.

In scope, the proposals range from a bill requiring the universities to contract with local communities for police protection to a measure eliminating tenure at all public universities.

In other action, speedy passage of a bill shifting funds from university budgets to school aids and veterans funds was prevented in a parliamentary maneuver by Assembly Democrats.

The measure would shift $22 million from appropriations already made to the University of Wisconsin, the state universities system and other state agencies to the Veterans Home Loan Fund and state aid funds for high schools.

Republican Assembly majority leader Paul Alfonsi of Minnoka said the measure is necessary if the state is to stave off "fiscal disaster." Democrats disagreed, often violently, with Assemblyman Manny Brown, D-Racine, calling the plan "piecemeal stealing."

Oswald as Beatnik Doubted by Widow

Defense Witness Contradicts Testimony of Link With Shaw

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Lee Harvey Oswald's pretty Russian widow has contradicted the testimony of a key prosecution witness in Clay L. Shaw's trial for conspiracy to murder President John F. Kennedy.

Marina Oswald Porter denied in testimony Friday that Oswald was a bearded beatnik.

"Tell me if you ever saw Lee Harvey Oswald with more beard than he has here," said defense lawyer F. Irvyn Dymond in Criminal District Court as he showed her a picture of Oswald with a stubble of beard after his arrest in Dallas.

"That is more beard than I ever saw on him," said Mrs. Porter who remarried since Oswald's death.

Perry Raymond Russo had described Oswald as an unwashed, bearded beatnik who lived in New Orleans with David W. Ferrie, and had testified that he overheard Oswald, Ferrie and Shaw talk about the possibility of slaying Kennedy.

Shaw, 55, is charged with conspiring with Oswald and Ferrie to murder Kennedy. Shaw says he never even saw the other two men, both now dead.

The Warren Commission said Oswald, acting alone, shot Kennedy in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963, and it found no credible evidence of a conspiracy.

Marina, a slender blonde in a gray dress with a white collar, said Friday Oswald was home nearly every night by 5:30 p.m. during their stay in New Orleans.

Had Few Friends — "Was he at any time rooming with anyone else or sharing an apartment with anyone else?" asked Dymond.

"No, sir."

On cross-examination, she testified Oswald seldom gave her more than a dollar, handled all the money himself, had few friends and didn't seem to want any, and seldom talked to her.

"As a matter of fact, he rarely told you at any time what he was doing, is that correct?" asked Asst. Dist. Atty. James Alcock.

"Yes, sir."

"Could you speak English when you lived in New Orleans?"

"No, sir."

Berkeley Administrators Get New Powers to End Disorders

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

University of California regents have given campus administrators power to suspend students without an immediate hearing in an attempt to quell chaotic conditions on the Berkeley campus.

The regents met Friday in Berkeley as 2,500 protesters demonstrated noisily nearby, jeering Gov. Ronald Reagan. Several students lobbed firecrackers in the general direction of the meeting.

But heavy rain and the shadow of 1,000 National Guardsmen camped five miles away averted a repetition of Thursday's violent clash between police and 2,000 demonstrators.

Other campuses across the country were also hit with demonstrations, some related to the fourth anniversary of the assassination of Malcolm X.

Nearly 100 Negro students seized a building at Wesleyan University in Middletown, Conn., but abandoned it after college officials canceled afternoon classes and scheduled a memorial service for Malcolm X.

Religious Holidays

The University of Pennsylvania declared Feb. 21 and the anniversary of the assassination of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., April 4, as religious holidays, but students refused to end a four-day sit-in.

The demonstration entered its fifth day with a commendation from the executive board of trustees for its orderly nature. Students and representatives of the Negro community are demanding that the university return 106 acres of land, scheduled as the site for a new science center, to local residents.

At other campuses:

Chapel Hill, N.C.—Gov. Robert Scott said he would use National Guardsmen or Highway Patrolmen to maintain order in the face of threats by black militants at the University of North Carolina to use "revolutionary tactics."

University Park, Pa.—About 20 Negro students broke open and established of an Irish locks at the flagpole of Pennsylvania State University and lowered the American flag to half-staff. They were joined by about 100 whites in honoring Malcolm X.

New York—About 50 student demonstrators of the Gaelic Student Coalition took over the Queens College radio station, sang "When Irish Eyes are Smiling" and passed out Irish coffee to dramatize demands for a holiday on St. Patrick's Day.

Confrontation Possible

Soviet Maneuvers May be a Problem

BY HUBERT J. ERB

Associated Press Writer

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet and East German maneuvers near the air corridors to isolated West Berlin could result in a confrontation with the Western allies.

The key question is whether the Russians and East Germans plan aerial maneuvers as well as ground exercises, and if so to what extent.

The Soviet announcement said only the maneuvers will take place early in March in central and western East Germany—between West Berlin and the West German border 110 miles away. Many believe the maneuvers are another Communist attempt to hinder access to West Berlin, where the West Germans will hold their presidential election March 5.

The East Germans, with Soviet backing, already have imposed new restrictions on surface travel, barring West Germany's presidential electors, their aides and members of the West German armed forces from traveling through East Germany to West Berlin. This means delegates to the West German Federal Assembly will be flying there.

If the Communists send up aircraft in numbers in the relatively narrow area, they could not avoid flying over the Berlin air corridors and possibly below the 10,000-foot level where Western planes fly.

At jet speeds this could pose an acute safety problem for airliners.

Even if the Soviets and East Germans do nothing overt in the air corridors, the announcement that they plan large-scale, high-speed air formations in the area would pose a ticklish question for the allies.

Should the air corridors be shut down until the maneuvers are finished, or should measures be taken to see that the airliners get through, with fighter escorts, for example?

Since the Russian blockade in 1948-49 there has never been any large-scale Communist interference with Berlin's air corridors. But Communist planes are sighted regularly by Western airline pilots.

High-ranking U.S.C. officials in West Berlin do not think the Soviets are planning anything serious in connection with their objections to the West Berlin election. It is held in West Berlin every five years, and every time the Soviets and East Germans complain, it is a "provocation."

Southern Campus Split Over Confederate Flag

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The school's 264 Negro students belong. Total enrollment is 11,500. Two Confederate flags have been burned publicly at the university during the past two weeks.

After the first flag burning the night of Feb. 12 in front of the home of the university president Dr. Thomas F. Jones, some white students countered with a flag waving rally at the Confederate memorial on the Statehouse grounds.

A second flag burning two days later at one of the university's libraries stirred up a confrontation between Negroes and whites which left one student slightly injured.

State law enforcement division agents arrested a leader of AWARE in connection with the flag burning at Dr. Jones' residence.

AWARE, an organization of white students, wants the flag removed from all state property and plans to raise the issue in the South Carolina Legislature. An administration spokesman said the university is studying the request from the Afro-American organization, to which most

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN

Tom Jones wound up his brilliant Fox River Valley Conference basketball career in high, 33-point style here Friday night to shepherd Appleton East past Fond du Lac 70-56.

The win enabled the Patriots (10-6) to break a tie with Fond du Lac (now 9-7) and finish in the first division for the second straight season under Coach Bill Morse. In avenging a first-round loss to the Cardinals, AHS-E concluded regular-season play for first place with an over-all 11-7 standard. Fond du Lac, despite playing quarter. He proved too much without regulars Kim Evans for the Cards to handle under and John Bestor (who were the basket in the second half sidelined for disciplinary reasons), proved a stickier foe than imposing total. Jones finished as the runnerup in an aggressive zone defense to advantage, the Cards were in command for much of the first half and stayed in the thick of the contention through most of the third quarter. But, once Jones & Co. got untracked, the Card resistance broke down.

At this point the Jays mounted a drive that carried them home. The Jays moved to a 7-16 points in a row near the end point margin — the widest of the game — and held on for their seventh conference victory.

Menasha made food on 44 per cent of its attempts while the Indians were successful on 40 per cent.

De Young Sets 1-Year Point Mark

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH — A trio of monarchs will rule the kingdom of the Fox River Valley Conference for the next year.

It all came about here Friday night when Neenah's dream of an undisputed basketball crown evaporated under a barrage of second-half points by Green Bay East's John De Young & Co., giving the Red Devils a surprising 78-54 win.

The Rockets, who nailed down their share by tripping Green Bay West last Saturday, their Friday conquerors and GBW all finished with 12-4 marks, creating the congested spot at the summit.

It was an especially delightful evening for De Young, who concluded an eventful 3-year career by scoring 29 points. He broke Jerry Tagge's 1-season scoring mark of 389 points by a free throw and shattered Dick Diener's 3-year total of 856 by 22. He also holds the 2-year standard.

De Young smashed the record the dramatic way, hitting a free throw with only one second left in the game. He missed the bonus. The 6-4 sharpshooter had to work for many of his 13 baskets, pumping them in from within a crowd.

In simple terms, this just wasn't the Rockets' night. They held their own in the first two periods and only trailed by a 35-32 count at the intermission. But, oh that second half!

Blister Nets

East blistered the nets for 23 points (including 10 baskets in 14 attempts in the third stanza) and closed with 20 in the fourth, this time sinking eight of 12 from the floor.

Neenah, at the same time, could only manage 10 points in the third segment and a dozen in fourth.

Earlier this week, Orrie Jirle, East's first-year coach, was quoted as saying the Red Devils would need a 10-point lead going into the final two minutes to win — and they had more than twice that many.

De Young was held to one basket in the first quarter and 10 points in the initial half, but punched in 11 in the third stanza, closing with eight, to lead the onslaught.

Neenah's shooting, a respectable 12 of 26 in the first half, fell off to 10 of 31 in the last two periods (only 4 of 16 in the third). Three times in the half they missed layups on break-aways.

Rebound Power

In addition, De Young, Chuck Hougard and Mike Harrington combined to just about annihilate the Rockets under the boards, also most notable in the second half. Unofficially, the Twin Cities only scraped off a half dozen in periods Nos. 3 and 4, to about 20 for their rivals.

Coach Ron Einerson's forces began their slide early in the third period after cutting the score to 37-36.

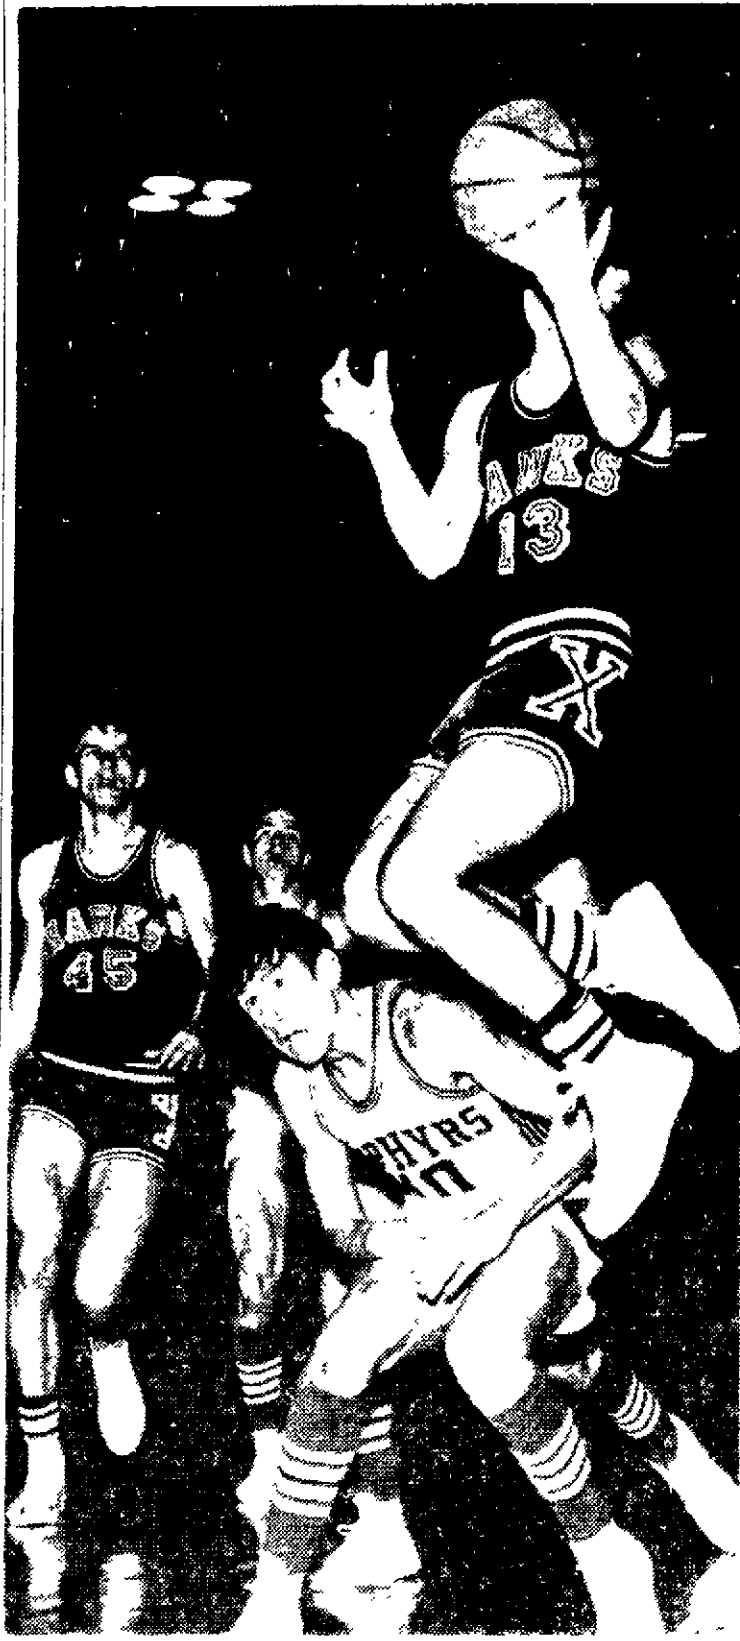

During a 3-minute span they were outscored, 11-2, East opening a 48-38 lead with 3:18 left in the frame. Getting the last five points of the quarter, the score was increased to 58-42 at the three-fourths mark.

The Herculean fourth quarter effort the hosts needed wasn't there as the Bays hit an early string of eight, producing a 22-point bulge three minutes deep into the canto and sending the first-year FRVC citizens to their second straight Friday night defeat at home.

The Packer City quintet received good balanced scoring to go along with De Young's mammoth effort. Harrington chipped in with 15, Hougard, a

The Jack Wippich-coached Papermakers iced a perfect (18-0) regular season. New London held a 4-2 lead until Bill Lamers banked in a lay-up with 5:55 left in the opening stanza. A scoring drought set in until Don Hagarty slipped in a free throw at the 3:26 mark of the period, igniting a 11-point scoring binge by Kimberly. Lamers and Jeff Wildenberg paced the attack with six points each.

Rob Ristau tallied the last basket of the first quarter and the Papermakers, led by Ristau, tallied 11 straight points to open the second quarter and a bulging 28-6 lead. Kimberly's offense slipped in the final 5:30 of the first half, as it took a 32-13 lead into the dressing room at intermission.

Hawks Duel Roncalli in Meet Finals

BY RON WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

GREEN BAY — Unbeaten Appleton Xavier shattered Menasha St. Mary's attempt at a slowdown game with an aggressive zone press defense, then delivered the knockout punch with some hard-driving, fast-break style of basketball to trounce the Zephyrs, 73-45, Friday night.

The victory boosts the Hawks to an unblemished 22-0 record for the season, but more importantly, sends them into the finals of the WISAA Region 5 Tournament against Manitowoc Roncalli at the Brown County Arena tonight.

The Jets, who twice were Xavier victims during the season, gained the championship round by rallying to beat Oshkosh Lourdes, 62-57, in the first semi-final contest Friday.

Xavier and Roncalli square off in the Region 5 game at 8:30 p.m., while Green Bay Pre-montre and De Pers Pennings tangle in the first tilt at 7 p.m. for Region 4 honors. The winners will then go on to Milwaukee for the State WISAA tournament at Milwaukee beginning Thursday.

'Best Club'

"They're a great ballclub," St. Mary coach Bob Pliska said in praise of the Hawks in the lockerroom after the game. "The best club they've ever had. I know, I've seen them all."

Pliska coached under Xavier head Gene (Torchy) Clark for seven years before taking the top post at St. Mary.

"They play as a team now," he said further, "and you don't see fast breaks like that in college."

In order to try to throw a monkey wrench into the Xavier smooth-running machine, Pliska ordered his players to stall at the game's outset. "Our game plan was to go for free throws and maybe some 'bunnies' once in a while," he explained.

For most of the first period, the strategy worked as the Zephyrs grabbed leads of 3-1, 5-3, and 7-6 before falling behind at the horn, 10-7.

But then St. Mary began to make a multitude of ball-handling mistakes against the Hawk press, and Xavier quickly ran its advantage to 17-9. With 4:41 left in the half, St. Mary abandoned the experiment.

A smiling Clark said after the maneuver. "A lot of teams have tried it against us," he said. "I don't envy our kids trying to play against it."

After taking the 17-9 lead, the Hawks shot through eight more points in a row to go up, 25-9. St. Mary was still within nailing distance at 31-18 at halftime but a big 24-18 margin in the third quarter put the Hawks out of reach. Xavier's biggest spread of the night came at 69-39 with 1:30 remaining.

In the second period, the Appleton quint attempted only five field shots and made only one. Moriarty scored four points in the frame which saw West mark only five points to South's 10.

South outscored West, 29-25, in the second half to end their conference season with a 5-11 mark. Pete Fischer paced the winners with 15 points.

Deadline Issued on Fire Station Study

New London Must Decide: Repair Or Vacate Building by June 1

NEW LONDON — The city has received new orders setting a June 1 deadline to determine if the fire station is to be extensively repaired or vacated from the public safety division of the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations.

A. C. McCullough, safety specialist, said there would be no further extensions of the compliance deadline, and that all items of the new orders must be complied with by June 1.

Original orders to make a survey of the fire station and either make extensive repairs or vacate were issued March 27, 1968.

The city had requested a six-month extension, which McCullough said he assisted with by consolidating the orders and omitting those that have been complied with: by changing the orders of March 27, 1968; by issuing new orders; by adding one new order; and by setting a new compliance date.

Submit Date

The new orders state that the city shall submit structural calculations and a date for repairs to the floor and ceiling of the station to the department by the June 1 deadline. They also state that if the study shows less than 50 per cent safe conditions, the fire station and the apartment above it must be vacated by removing all apparatus by the compliance.

However, if the study shows better than 50 per cent safe conditions, plans are to be submitted for a four-hour fire resistance separation of the station from the rest of city hall.

Calculations by the engineering firm of Rice and Urban previously showed that the building would not meet the 50 per cent conditions.

Other items the city must comply with, according to the orders, include:

— Remove all combustible materials from beneath the fire department stairway and make

COG to Make Reassessment Of Sewers

MENASHA — An area-wide diagnosis of storm water problems by the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) may eventually help to soothe some of Menasha's headaches on the northeast side.

But, in case the city is thinking of tackling its spring drainage ailments this year, the COG study will come too late.

And, in case the city is hoping the study might influence the Town of Menasha to cooperate in solving the city problems, there is good reason to wonder.

A firm of consulting engineers, Donohue and Associates, Sheboygan, are about half way through the year-and-a-half storm water study.

Due in September

Final results won't be in until September. So the city would have to postpone a major storm sewer project in the Meadowview Acres area another year to gain the benefits of the study.

Mayor John Klein has expressed an interest in getting started on the project this year, with or without a $178,000 federal grant which is pending. If the city goes ahead, it will do so with little assurance that the project fits into COG's suggested area-wide storm sewer plans.

200-300 Minimum Sought Authority Challenges HUD On Size of Housing Project

The Appleton Housing Authority hopes to reverse a federal city hall. Jensen said the authority envisioned a minimum of 200 to 300 living units for Appleton, but it was disclosed Friday.

"We are extremely disappointed with the latest information concerning our proposed project," Leon Jensen, an Appleton attorney and housing authority chairman, commented during a press conference at the low rental housing for persons on low incomes, and authorized application for a federal grant through HUD.

The latest news from the regional HUD office at Chicago comes at a time when the housing authority has done all the necessary planning for a project short of starting the actual construction.

A site has been given top priority (Morgan School property) and several prospective firms have been consulted concerning a turnkey operation.

However, Jensen said he had talked with HUD officials and they agreed to hold up their final programming recommendation which must be approved in Washington before a grant is allocated.

In the meantime, Jensen said he hopes, with the cooperation of the news media and civic and other interested groups in the community, another study of housing for the elderly needs can be completed within a month.

Jensen announced that starting next week there will be questionnaires available at the city clerk's office at the city hall for persons over 62 years of age to fill out. The information will be kept confidential, Jensen emphasized.

He explained that even persons who are not thinking of applying to reside in a housing development should fill out a questionnaire.

Jensen said he recently conferred with several regional HUD officials and feels another survey would prove the housing authority's contention that a minimum of 200 units should be constructed at the start.

He said HUD at Chicago apparently based its economic analysis of Appleton on a survey conducted by a United Community Services committee in September, 1967.

"This communitywide project (survey) was carried out by non-professionals with no knowledge of the HUD guidelines, which have changed since then," Jensen declared.

Some 90 students were ousted from Oshkosh following a violent demonstration on the campus last semester. The UW board of regents said it would not overrule the state university board of regents by accepting the expelled students.

The ACLU in a statement said it was "deeply disturbed" by the way the UW handled the case.

"The regular procedure for admission of students on an individual basis was disregarded in this case," the statement said.

Deeply Disturbed

The ACLU called the action a "discriminatory abrogation of the university's own regular procedures."

The UW faculty earlier this week narrowly defeated a recommendation to admit some of the Oshkosh students to the activities room report by Miss Benson.

Black Power Not Violence—or Love, ABC Students Say

NEENAH — "Black power" doesn't mean taking over the world by force — or love.

"Can't Be President"

The two black students said the definition of black power is very broad. When the term is used, citizens immediately think the Negro is trying to take over the world by revolution, they said.

"It is not fighting," but the Negro wants to have control over Negro functions to a certain extent and wants participation in governmental roles, Davis said.

One student in the school's packed Little Theater asked why residents of ghetto areas spend what little money they have on LSD and other dope, rather than for needed food and clothing.

One of the reasons, Davis pointed out, is because the effect of the drugs dull the mind and the Negroes are able to forget the problems at hand.

Then comes addiction and it is extremely difficult to get off, he said. "The best thing to do is not bother with it in the first place," Davis said.

Some 90 students were ousted from Oshkosh following a violent demonstration on the campus last semester. The UW board of regents said it would not overrule the state university board of regents by accepting the expelled students.

The ACLU in a statement said it was "deeply disturbed" by the way the UW handled the case.

"The regular procedure for admission of students on an individual basis was disregarded in this case," the statement said.

Deeply Disturbed

The ACLU called the action a "discriminatory abrogation of the university's own regular procedures."

The UW faculty earlier this week narrowly defeated a recommendation to admit some of the Oshkosh students to the activities room report by Miss Benson.

Schaefer Carries Message Of Courtroom to Schools

BY BILL KNUTSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"During the months I have served as judge in Court Branch 2, and before that as district attorney for a number of years, I have observed the frequent and common involvement young people have in the work of this court."

It is on that note that Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer, for the past several weeks, opened his hour-long series of talks to high school youths throughout the county.

The student education program regarding laws and courts was Schaefer's idea. And, through the cooperation of school officials, he was able to carry his timely message to more than 3,500 students in 12 high schools.

Lift Cloak

He gave his final talk Friday at Appleton High School-West. His audiences the past weeks consisted primarily of sophomores. He usually talked to students early in the morning, so his program would not interfere with his court schedule.

Schaefer told the students, "It appears to me a number of young people don't know, don't care, or are unimpressed with the seriousness of some activities. As judge in this court, I feel I have some responsibility to help lift this cloak of ignorance or doubt on the part of young people."

Schaefer's messages dealt primarily with young people's involvement with the law and the courts. He started with an explanation of the serious consequences of seemingly-unimportant traffic offenses and from there delved into youth's problems with everything from alcohol to sex.

The judge talked not only of severe penalties and ominous-sounding laws, but also explained the workings of his court and the safeguards and rights provided through this country's system of justice. He explained various laws, stripping away the technical language, and told why the laws were made.

Using newspaper clippings and citing cases that went through his court, Schaefer was able to give added impact to his talks.

Purpose of Laws

He told of the purpose of traffic laws, and explained "Driving is a serious responsibility. A mistake can mean death." He told students that when young people break traffic laws, the pocket book usually is hard-hit because of hikes in auto insurance rates.

Schaefer cited the increasing number of morals cases involving high-school-age youths that go through his court.

"The legal consequences of immoral conduct are severe," he said.

"Aside from the risk of a prison sentence for immoral conduct, consider the civil responsibility involved," Schaefer told the student.

"The father of a child born out of wedlock is financially responsible for its support to age 18. At $20 a week, the amount can run to about $20,00," he said.

On Increase

Schaefer reminded the students that shoplifting has been on the increase throughout the nation, and that merchants are shouting for strong court action against offenders. He told students that while he usually imposes fines on shoplifters, there have been many instances where he imposed probation and jail sentences.

He cited the case of a man he sent to jail for 60 days for stealing a $10 pair of shoes; of the $50 fine he levied on a student for the theft of apples; and of the two-year prison sentence he imposed on a 19-year-old youth convicted of a three-year spree of shoplifting offenses.

Schaefer told of other serious offenses involving today's youth. Like car theft, which he said carries a five-year prison sentence, and check forgery and burglary, both of which can cost a person 10 years in prison.

Stiff Fines

Schaefer, in his talks, reviewed the serious narcotics problem Appleton police are facing with young people.

He told of stiff fines and or prison sentences provided for in narcotics cases, and explained that "In common, alcohol or drugs leads to other offenses."

Schaefer concluded his talks by citing the long-standing effects of a criminal record.

He related the irreparable harm done to family and friends, and told of how criminal records often prevent acceptance into military service and college. A record often costs a person his job, Schaefer told the students.

"He has that record for life."

It Was a Big Event for 31 Fox Valley Technical Institute students who Friday received their licensed practical nurses' pins after a full year of training. Appropriately, the first to congratulate them is Gerald Aldridge, administrator of Theda Clark Hospital, Neenah.

Graduation at Theda Clark

Dream to be Nurses Is Fulfilled

MENASHA — "Young women have many dreams and one of them has been fulfilled by you tonight. But tonight also is a time to take stock of yourself and look toward future dreams," 31 new licensed practical nurses were told Friday.

It was graduation night for the women who had chosen to go into the nursing profession and for a year had studied in the Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District 12 (VTE-12) program at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital, Neenah.

Appropriately, the speaker at the event was Gerald Aldridge, administrator of the hospital.

"The uniform and cap which you wear are badges of honor which are not to be given or worn lightly. These identify you with service and place on you a great and grave responsibility," the speaker told the graduates.

Be Proud

"Now that you have the right to wear these insignias, you will never be the same, for you have placed their mark upon you. Wear them proudly," he said.

It is important, he cautioned, that licensed practical nurses stop thinking of themselves as a minority group in nursing.

"I have stated repeatedly that the bedside nurse of the future is the practical nurse. She will one day give the major portion of bedside nursing care in the country," Aldridge said.

Turning to the requirements for entering the profession, the administrator told the group that the first and most important is that the nurse must love people.

"I see a person who, because of love, has something to give and gives it unselfishly; I see a vision to supplement the faculty and weaknesses which being human implies," he said.

Not Menial

There are those, the speaker added, who would have you believe that nursing is menial, more effective education," Aldridge said.

Sharing the platform with Aldridge and the 31 graduates were C. G. Russell Johnson, the door makes it so," Aldridge added, "By the very fact that you have chosen the profession, Mrs. Gertrude Neuman, practicing nurse, and another man's burden of sick- Mrs. Betty J. Kringel, president of the alumnae association, simply by sharing it."

Touching briefly on the hospital which has offered its facilities for the training program, the official explained that, because of board of trustees' foresight, the hospital has been able to keep pace with advances in medical technology.

The bed capacity has increased from 160 to 540 in the decade; new developments in hospital design and function were pioneered; and medical staff has tripled.

In addition, the hospital will be among the pioneers in the use of medical educational tele-

St. Norbert Changes Degree Requirements

DE PERE — Changes in the general education requirements for a bachelor's degree have been announced by St. Norbert College.

According to Dr. Donald B. King, dean of the college, one of the primary curriculum changes is that a student now will be able to graduate after successful completion of 120 credit hours. "Our catalog now advertises this," King said, "but our present curricular patterns make it impossible or very difficult for many students."

He said that the average St. Norbert graduate finishes school anywhere from 67 to 84 credits with 140 to 150 credits, 20 to 30 from specific departments more than the requirements for a bachelor's degree.

The new requirements will divide the 120 credit graduation requirement into about 40 credits of elective courses, 40 credits of major courses and 40 credits of required courses.

Under the new requirements students will have more freedom of choice, King said, under the restrictions. For example, no sciences, 18 credits in the student will be permitted to humanities and 12 credits in take more than five courses in theology.

Under the new course re-Under the new course requirements, a candidate for a bachelor's degree must take 6 credits in language, one in either theology or philosophy, one in mathematics, one in natural science, 9 credits in the humanities, 9 credits in communication arts and do a certain number of free electives outside the division of his major. These courses may be taken on a pass or fail basis, rather than a grade point basis, according to King, at the option of the student.

"We are giving the student this option so that a person who is very strong in physics or chemistry, let's say, will be able to take a course in art or music without jeopardizing his high grade point average."

Anti-Americanism in Turkey

One of the latest countries to show an outburst of anti-Americanism is one of our NATO allies, Turkey.

Demonstrations by left-wing groups against the presence of American naval ships in Turkish harbors last week disintegrated into a free-for-all between about 10,000 demonstrators and approximately the same number of right wing supporters of the government. Two persons were killed and quite a few more were taken off to hospitals for a variety of injuries.

Members of the Turkish government minimize such episodes and point out that the far-left group, the Socialist Labor Party, has never been able to get more than five per cent of the national vote. Foreign Minister, Ihsan Sabri insisted in a recent interview that "for the big majority of this country there is no anti-Americanism. We are part of the Western world — that is what matters — and we are attached to the United States by our Western philosophy." Others are not so sanguine.

There are probably a number of reasons for the anti-Americanism and not all concerned with doubt about the war in Vietnam. Protestors are generally more numerous among the intellectuals and students as in most countries where something or other is being protested. During the long rule of Kemal Ataturk, the intellectuals actually had a strong role although the regime was a dictatorship. But as democracy began to take hold after Ataturk's death, the major political party began to rely much more upon the peasants and labor for support and the intellectuals have lost influence. Because of the ties between the United States and Turkey, in NATO and through extensive economic and military aid programs, the opposition finds an attack upon the United States as one

One of the most interesting and probably astute observations about the conservatives and the New Left in this country was recently made by a man who concedes he has been a member of both.

Karl Hess was a dedicated speech writer for Senator Barry Goldwater during the 1964 campaign and wrote the controversial phrase, "extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice; moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue." He helped Mr. Goldwater last fall in his successful try to go back to the Senate. It would appear that Mr. Hess was dedicated to the conservative point of view.

But he says that he has moved from the political Far Right to the New Left. And the reason seems to be that the Far Right as he sees it now is no longer true to the Jeffersonian principle that the best government is the one which governs the least.

According to Mr. Hess "there used to be a very strong libertarian tradition on the right . . . that you can't have the state so powerful that it can go rampaging around the world without having a state so powerful that it can coerce people at home . . . but the rise of the Soviet Union introduced this really fanatic anticommunism . . . so that a lot of people, including myself, said, 'look, because of the threat of Soviet Communism we've got to forget all of this tradition and we've got to have a very powerful state now to combat this monster . . . when it comes to anticommunism, the conservative position is that the state should have every power in the world, up to and including the right to execute people.'"

Mr. Hess decided this was all wrong when it appeared that the United States and the Soviet Union, both powerful states,

Cost of Brides Soars in Mali

Cost of living figures continue to rise, but it's nice to know that the trend — distressing though it may be — is not confined to the United States. In Mali, the cost of brides has soared beyond the means of many young men.

Although the dowry in the West African nation has been set at $40, presents which are becoming part of the courting ritual have added to that figure. Actual costs now are estimated to be from three to five times the dowry.

Such hidden costs are nothing new to

Background Map
Protestant Majority Split Open
In Northern Ireland's Elections

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — For the first time in a Northern Ireland election, the voters look like they have something to argue about.

Previous elections in the six-county province always have been a simple counting of heads.

Protestants, representing two-thirds of the 942,000 electorate, voted Unionist, the party allied to the British Conservatives and standing above all for keeping the link with Britain.

The Catholic third, outside Belfast, voted for the Nationalists, standing for union with the neighboring Irish Republic. Belfast Catholics voted for various brands of Labor party, combining republicanism with militant socialism.

WASTE OF TIME

In many areas the issue was so clearcut that voting seemed a waste of time. In the 1965 election 23 of the 52 House of Commons members were returned unopposed without a vote.

Londonderry city and county, returning five members of Parliament, had only one contest in 1965. The Unionists put up a candidate against opposition leader Eddie McAteer in the Foyle district and lost.

Unionists took the four remaining Londonderry seats without a single contest.

County Tyrone, with five seats, had only two contests. Unionists won both. The Nationalists took the other three unopposed.

Now, with the Unionist party split and the country in ferment, political commentators are forecasting that at least 40 of the 52 seats will be contested in the Feb. 24 voting.

The reason is that this election is concerned not so much with which party wins — the Unionists took virtually certain to pull through — but which faction wins control of the Unionist party.

Prime Minister Terence O'Neill called the election as soon as it became clear that an increasingly powerful faction of the party's 37-man parliamentary caucus was determined to oust him from office.

His political future now rests with the local Unionist Association and whether they adopt O'Neill supporters or dissidents as their candidates.

O'Neill's main strength lies east and north of Lough Neagh, the inland sea which is one of Northern Ireland's great scenic attractions.

OLD DIVISIONS HOT

West of the Lough, in the counties of Fermanagh, Tyrone and Londonderry, the old divisions of Catholic and Protestant are at their hottest. O'Neill's moderation policies have little appeal here and he has only one firm supporter in the entire region — agriculture Minister James Chichester-Clarke, member for South Londonderry.

One difficulty for the voters will be to sort out just which faction they are voting for.

Local Unionists associations pick their candidate without reverence to the central party organization. O'Neillites and anti-O'Neillites will all stand under the same Unionist label.

As an added complication, the Rev. Ian Paisley, militant leader of the Free Presbyterians, says he will put up candidates under the title "Protestant Unionist."

Paisley himself intends to fight O'Neill in the prime minister's bannside district of County Antrim. O'Neill was unopposed in 1965.

Paisley's No. 2 man, Maj. Ronald Bunting, left jail recently to fight Commerce Minister Roy Bradford in the Victoria district of Belfast. Bradford held the seat in 1965 with a slender 423 majority.

Bunting's intervention could split the Protestant vote and let in a Catholic-based Republican.

Where dissidents control the local Unionist nomination, it is likely that O'Neill men will stand against them. A typical case is Enniskillen on the western borders. The seat is held by Harry West, a fervent critic of O'Neill.

HAS FIGHT ON HANDS

William Craig, the "hard line" Home Affairs minister whom O'Neill fired last year, will have a fight on his hands in Larne, a coast resort north of Belfast.

In 1965 he was unopposed.

Now his opponent will be Sheila Murnaghan, a liberal who sat for one of the four queen's university seats abolished under recent electoral reforms.

Until the 1965 election any graduate of Belfast's Queen's University had an extra vote in parliamentary elections. He kept this vote whatever his nationality or place of residence.

These seats have been abandoned and four new ones created outside Belfast in heavily-populated suburban districts.

Anthony Peacocke, new inspector general of the Royal Ulster constabulary, claimed that the banned Irish Republican Army (IRA) is supporting the Northern Ireland civil rights movement.

Peacocke told a news conference on taking up office: "I do not think they are organizing it, but it fits in with their long-term plans for uniting Ireland forcibly."

Businesslike Approach
Need in Grand Chute

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

This letter is in response to Mr. Weller's letter printed on February 2nd.

Grand Chute has had a large commercial growth during the past few years along with additional industrial activity. Residents were told that this would help reduce their taxes and support additional services. We all know the exact opposite has happened. An indication to the reason is that they paid proportionately lower taxes per thousand of evaluation. This was supposed to be corrected by a reappraisal. So, then what happens some appealed and got their assessments reduced while the homeowner and farmer didn't get the same break. So here we are again subsidizing commercial and industrial owners who can afford to pay their fair share of taxes. Now these same people talk annexation so that they will continue to get tax breaks yet receive the continued preferential treatment in service at other's expense.

Many other things need examination and an accounting to the people of Grand Chute. Here are some things I would like to see looked into.

1. A balance must be maintained in relation to taxes, additional services, attracting more tax base, and avoidance of people wanting to annex to Appleton because of lack of facilities and services while their taxes keep rising. A more businesslike approach is needed.

2. Land usage must be protected so we don't end up looking like another jammed in community with no space for recreation, parks or just plain green areas.

3. Better planning for the future particularly in proposed locations to prevent a haphazard growth pattern. In this connection zoning regulations should be broken down and defined. The homeowners need more protection and are entitled to see detailed plans when their property may be effected by any proposed rezoning.

4. Greater coordination is needed between Grand Chute, Outagamie County, the State of Wisconsin, Appleton and others to give all residents the most for their tax dollar.

5. A careful examination to be as fair as possible in the extension of the Butte des Morts Utility District.

6. Perhaps only 3 people voting on matters affecting people estimated at between 7,300 to 9,000 can't possibly give adequate representation.

7. Why a flat fee for hooking into the sewer system despite different size connections and heavier use and why a flat $5 a month fee for homeowners and reduced rates on apartment projects.

I agree with Mr. Weller that the cards should come from the top of the deck and let's let everyone see them. Yes, it's time for new dealers with a sincere desire to improve the situation for the homeowner. I, too, am discouraged by higher taxes with nothing to show for them. Let's do something about it. The spring primary when we vote for supervisor is the place to begin.

Why Can't Child Abuse
Be Prevented by Police?

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

What is wrong with this state when a mother can abuse a child over a period of years and not have action taken? If abuse was indeed "suspected" as far back as 1966, why was there no investigation by police? After the child was proved to have been beaten, why was he given back to the "mother" who beat him? And why was the mother not given psychiatric help?

There are more and more cases of child abuse every day. The child is nearly always returned to the parents, and some are eventually murdered. Why even give the child back to the parents? They have proved they don't want him. As to visitation rights, does this mother even deserve to see her son again? I say no. It takes years for a child to recover from the mental and physical abuse this mother has given him. The pity is so much of it could have been prevented.

Wisconsin Report
It's First Time in History Soldiers Had To Guard State Capitol

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — The old timer fell to reminiscing about some of the politicians he had known and recalled the prominent state senator of his day whose invariable introduction to a speech, delivered in sonorous tones, was:

"These are parlous times."

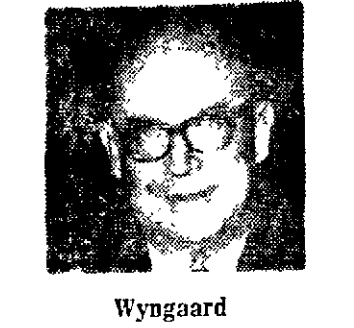

"Parlous" they might have been, indeed, during the Great Depression era of long ago. But the perennial State Capitol habitue could not suppress the question of what the lugubrious lawmaker would have said at the sight of armed soldiers of the Wisconsin National Guard patrolling the marble corridors in February, 1969.

It may be that by the time this dispatch reaches print the events at a distance are equally dumbfounded.

An editor telephoned to ask about the university's rules about cutting classes. Cannot the students who deserted their classrooms for the repeated marches down State Street and elsewhere be penalized under the academic code of the school?

Presumably they can be and should be, if they can be identified. But how can they be separated from hundreds of others who merely skipped classes because they didn't want to be involved in the belligerent crowds, or whose parents instructed them to stay at home or in their dormitory rooms, or who were dismissed by their instructors when strikers strode into classrooms to make their pitch for rebellion against the administration?

CLOSED IN EFFECT

The university officials say the university won't be closed. But a part of it has in fact been "closed," as the elevator operator advised me when she reported that her daughter had missed two classes in succession when her teacher dismissed her.

Deans and chancellors and assistant chancellors and regents and the rest of the hierarchy will deliberate these matters for a long time. Some arrests of students have been made, as this report is filed. But prosecution and judicial deliberation are leisurely affairs. (Only last week the courts finally disposed of the cases of some of the students arrested for disorderly conduct in a more riotous demonstration in the fall of 1967.)

Perhaps Assemblyman Russell Olson of Kenosha County unconsciously suggested one of the possibilities for response when he introduced two of his constituents in the Assembly visitors' gallery the other morning as Kenosha County students at the university's Madison campus. Such introductions are routine in the protocol of legislative politicians. But Olson added a timely touch.

WOULD INFORM PARENTS

"If you are strikers," he said as he looked upward at the students who presumably should have been in class in the morning, "I'm going to inform your mothers."

One wonders, indeed, what several thousands of the parents of the striking students would say if they knew what their young 'uns were doing.

People's Forum
Why Would Anyone Want To Rebuild Democrats?

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

We have learned that former Vice President Hubert Humphrey has come to the middle west to help rebuild the Democratic Party. One of the first statements, which I understand he made while in Chicago, was that the Welfare Department was rotten. We were surprised to hear a leading Democrat make that kind of statement after our country has been under a Democratic administration for eight years.

It appears that during the past eight years, while the Democratic leaders were building their party, instead of our government, they neglected keeping up our finances, and as a result the unproductive segment of our society has gotten loose, and is threatening to take over our government, as seen lately in Madison and Oshkosh.

Now that we have a statesman at the head of our government, instead of a shrewd politician, who has agreed that one of his first steps will be to rebuild and strengthen our fences, so as to control our society, in respect to law and order. It's high time that every citizen should get back of such a movement, if we expect to keep this country as the great country it is. This country is by no means rotten. Simply because we have been a little negligent, and have elected too many people to govern our country who have been more interested in building their party than in building a sound government, is no reason why we cannot make a change, a change for the good of all.

During the last eight years, we have become the most unappreciative and dissatisfied people on earth. We have largely lost our respect for law and order. We have just voted for a change, so why should we be interested in rebuilding a party that we have just voted out?

State Employee's Take Home
Pay Is Just $375 Per Month

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

I read John Wyngaard's article in The Post-Crescent which stated you feel the demands of state employees are "ambitious." This may sound that way to you, but did you check into all the aspects of these demands before you wrote your article?

My husband is a state employee and he has a take home pay of $374.73 per month. We are in the process of paying for a home, which payments are no more than we would have to pay for rent if we rented a place to live. In order to just make ends meet from one month to the other we have to live on a very strict budget. This does not leave even the smallest amount for the ever present emergency that arises.

Perhaps some state employees are paid enough so their take home pay is enough to keep a family in the necessities of today's living, but with this small amount of money I think even you will have to admit you would have some difficulty doing this nowadays.

How many people working for private industry have such a small take home pay? None of the people we are acquainted with have, and my husband's job is just as important as any of theirs.

I think state employees are only asking for what is fair.

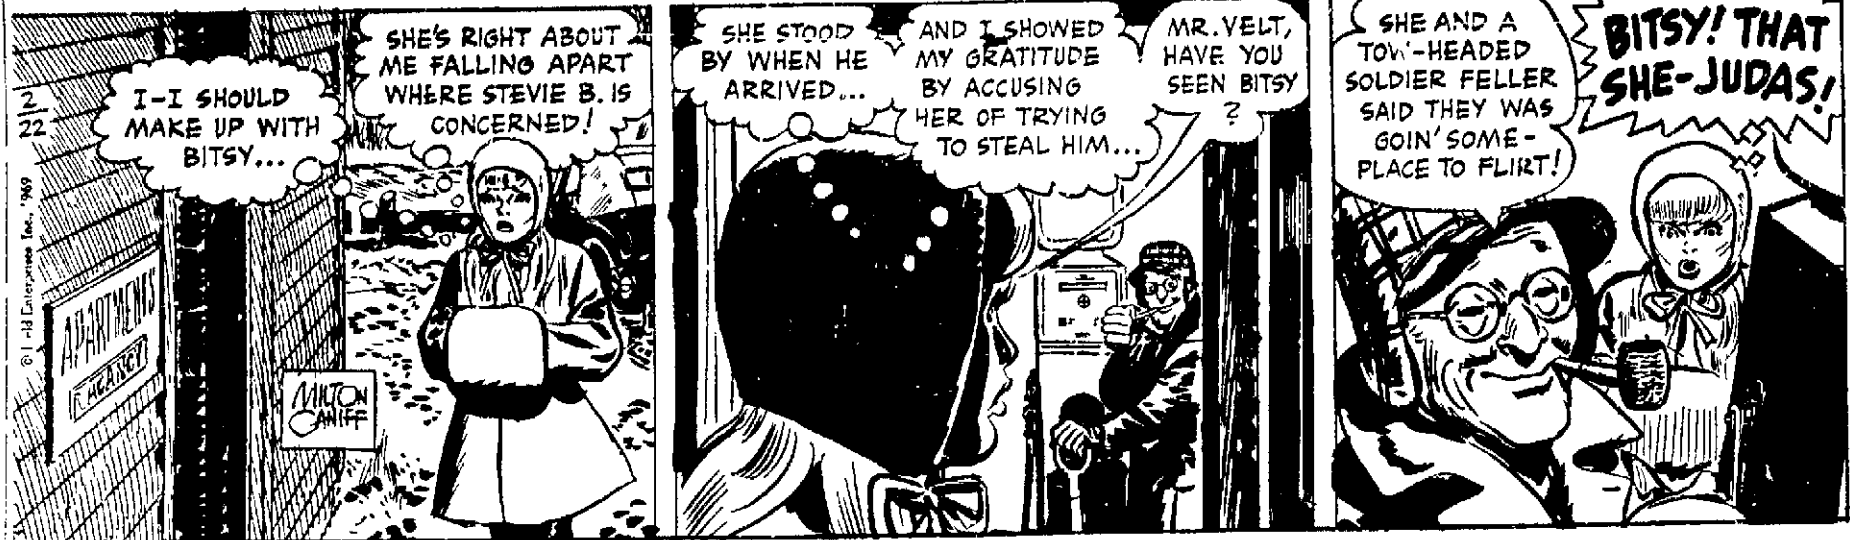

We are paying taxes in the state of Wisconsin also.

College Fray Depicted on 'Adam-12'

BY TV SCOUT
6:30-7 — Channel 5 — Adam-12 may twist your stomach muscles tonight with a depiction of the trouble college dissidents give to police. Marty Milner as Officer Malloy gets most of this action. He is taking part-time courses at the university when he and his partner are called in to disperse a student demonstration which is holding the college president captive.
4:5-5:30 — Channel 11 — ABC's Wide World of Sports covers the Olympians Track and Field Meet from Madison Square Garden and the National Indoor Motorcycle Championships from the Houston Astrodome
6:30-7:30 — Channel 2 — It's mostly comedy on The Jackie Gleason Show with the Great One bringing back his famed Fenwick Babbitt for an income tax skit. The kindly tax collector is guest star Milton Berle
7-7:30 — Channel 5 — In the concluding episode of "To Sire with Love," on Get Smart, Max is still imitating King Charles of Coronation, and 99 is still totally confused. She can't tell which is her real husband. KAOS is also up in the air on the subject, but they have found a simple solution — kill them both
7:30-8 — Channel 2 — One of life's great tragedies is given airing on My Three Sons. Ernie is as close to young Gordon Dearing as any buddy can be, and if you remember your youthful "best friend," you'll know how close that is. When Gordon announces that his family is moving to a place half way 'round the world, the two friends are almost inconsolable.
7:30-8 — Channel 5 — Captain Gregg has had just about all he can take of Cousin Claymore. The Ghost and Mrs. Muir. The surest way he knows to get permanently rid of him is to marry him off, and the surest way he knows to make the prospective bride attractive to the miser is with plenty of money.

8:30-9:30 — Channel 11 — Does anyone remember the Rowan & Martin brand of humor, pre-Laugh-In? If you can't bet your sweet bippy on that, The Hollywood Palace will bring it all back tonight. They call this a "Comedy Concert" with the boys doing several of their old skits as well as singing "Old Man River"
9-10 — Channel 2 — Mannix has its first light-hearted episode of the season, an almost burlesque-type chase sequence with more characters than an Ian Fleming novel. There has been a multi-million dollar robbery, and everyone imaginable is hunting for the stashed loot including the thieves who committed the crime.
'Milk-in' Is Planned By New Student Group
WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A group calling itself SPASM has invited students and faculty to a "milk-in" Monday at Wichita State University.
A circular distributed Thursday says SPASM (Society for the Prevention of Asinine Student Movements) "will possess and consume 2.0 per cent vitamin D fortified milk" in front of the campus activities center.
The spoof is a counter-protest to a recent beer "drink-in" by a student group trying to force a referendum to permit the sale of beer on the WSU campus.

Brilliant Pianist Next Town-Gown Artist

American Medal Winner in Moscow
Plays Feb. 27 at Oshkosh Auditorium

BY JINGO

One of the music world's the University of California at Los Angeles, enrolling for a program of general study. While at UCLA, he performed with the Los Angeles Philharmonic and other local orchestras in addition to playing recitals.
With Rosina Lhevinne
In June of 1964, after having been at UCLA for two semesters, Dichter participated in a two-week master class given at the University of Rosina Lhevinne. Noticing the young pianist's unusual talent, the teacher invited him to join classes at the Juilliard School of Music.
When the Moscow Tchaikovsky Competition was announced, it was decided that Dichter should enter. Before leaving for Moscow, he had the gratification of winning two important honors: Juilliard's Concerto Competition, which entailed a public performance of Beethoven's "Emperor" Concerto No. 7, Opus 83, of Sergei Prokofiev.
Started Early
Born in Shanghai, of Polish descent, Dichter arrived in the United States at the age of 2. Since his return to the United States, Dichter's professional appearances have drawn a torrent of praise from the critics. When he played at Hollywood Bowl, Martin Bernheimer, of the Los Angeles Times, said, "It's safe to label Dichter a phenomenal talent."
Called a 'Sensation'
Following an appearance at Detroit's Meadowbrook Festival, His first success came in 1961, when, at the age of 15, he won first prize over about 60 contestants in all instrumental categories at a competition sponsored by the Music Educators National Conference. His prize was a public performance of the Rachmaninoff Concerto No. 2 in Los Angeles.
After his graduation from 1963, the young artist entered Beverly Hills High School in Collins George, in the Detroit Free Press, said, "He is the latest young piano sensation to captivate both the public and the critics. He met all challenges easily and superbly."

Dichter's first recording for RCA Victor was the Tchaikovsky B-flat minor with Erich Leinsdorf and the Boston Symphony. Other releases are scheduled for the near future.

As an important local postscript, don't overlook the choral concert tonight at Appleton-East. This is not an ordinary concert at all, but a part of the Music Festival that's been going on for several weekends with high school music students combining their abilities.
Tonight there's a special reason for attending the program of 185 songsters from Appleton High School-West, Appleton High School-East and Fond du Lac High School-Goodrich.
Dr. Daniel Moe, of the University of Iowa, will be guest conductor of the massed choirs. Concert time is 8 p.m. in the young people are singing East's auditorium.

Twin Cities Again Pay Best in State

NEENAH-MENASHA — The state, the 12,400 workers twin city area retained its title employed in the twin cities during January as the highest worked an average of 44.4 hours each week.

Janesville, which sees-saws back and forth with the twin cities for the top spot in the state, according to statistics released this week by the Wisconsin Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations, was second this time with an average weekly earning of $149.29 for a 40.3 hour week, an average of $3.71 per hour.

Third on the list was the Milwaukee area (including Milwaukee, Oshkosh, Waukegan, and Washington counties) where the average worker earned $148.79. His average hourly earnings were $3.62 for a 41 hour week.

A primary reason Neenah-Menasha workers were tops in weekly pay is that they worked more hours per week than any of their counterparts, except for Green Bay industrial workers who worked 44.3 hours. They earned $141.09, about $3.23 per hour.

All area, in the late are employing fewer persons than they were a month ago but are up from a year ago. In the twin cities the 12,400 workers are 100 fewer than were employed here in December but 200 more than January 1967.

The average weekly earnings $144.02, Green Bay, $143.09, Madison, $142.16, Beloit, $142.16, Racine, $138.05, Sheboygan, $135.48, Appleton, $134.11, Janesville, $149.29, Milwaukee, $134.21, Oshkosh, $123.61, and Kenosha, $112.81.

Fire Causes Serious Damage to Nekimi Home, Woman Injured

OSHKOSH — The Town of Nekimi home of Mrs. Gladys Schullz and her four children was badly gutted by fire at about 9:30 p.m. Friday, according to Winnebago County police.

The two-story structure is located at 5300 Waupun Road Oshkosh.

A 26-year-old daughter suffered minor injuries and was taken to Mercy Medical Center for treatment.

The fire apparently started when clothing hanging above a table lamp ignited in a first-floor bedroom.

Sports Gear Is Stolen From St. John School

MENASHA — Vandalism broke into a cabinet at St. John School this week and stole six basketballs, volleyballs and playground balls, police learned Thursday.

Sister Ann Kasarek, principal at the school, said the incident occurred sometime after school hours Tuesday or Wednesday.

Police found the lock bag removed from a cabinet in the gymnasium and the school to be closed in June.

No estimate of the equipment's value was available.

School Board Plans Building Fund Transfer

MENASHA — Topping a short agenda for Monday night's board of education meeting is the final $24,431 transfer of funds from the Gegan Elementary School construction fund to help pay for the remodeling of the senior high school.

The school board has been dipping into the fund to take care of immediate bills caused by the $825,000 remodeling project. It will reimburse the Gegan fund when the district is bonded.

The remodeling got under way in late January, and to date has been on schedule. Completion is expected by October.

Other business coming before the board will include a recommendation from the high school for a curriculum change.

Musicians, Offspring in Generation-Gap Band

NEENAH — A new dimension to the community band will be added when the community musicians Director Al Schulze, munity band plays its winter concert March 16 — it will be the adults perform first, the youngsters will play three selections. For a finale, the band with a band will be made up of sons and daughters of the musicians.

The Neenah Community Band, which celebrates its fourth anniversary this year, was born when a "ham and eggs" band of adult musicians sat down at a park and recreation department function "to play for fun."

"They have been playing for fun ever since," comments James Hrubeczy, recreation director. "These musicians rounded their interest and performed in music and now they have asked their children to join the fun."

They can hardly wait for the first rehearsal on Tuesday. The school district has already set well into motion.

The $825,000 remodeling project of the senior high school since the band started, with the entire family coming to the school along with Thomas Miller, another first class fireman.

Tickets are now on sale at the Camera and Card Shop, at the Neenah Pool, and from band members.

Menasha Junior High Plans Being Prepared for Bidders

MENASHA — Architects are completed by the 1970-71 school year.

Robert Pfeiffer of Santa Barbara, Appleton, the architect, began in January and should be completed by October. The school to be located on Midway Road in the Town of Menasha is expected to be estimated $1.5 million.

'Cream of the Toughs' Earn, Learn or Just Exist at New Special Education Camp

BY FERN SMITH
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — Tucked away in the center of a 64,000 acre forest in Jackson County is one of the most unusual "school houses" in the state of Wisconsin, where 50 delinquent boys who have been kicked out of every private, parochial and correctional school are learning and earning their way.

It's the Black River Camp's year-old experiment in special education for "toughs," averaging 17 and one-half years in age, branded with academic and vocational failure, and further handicapped by the obvious fact that they do not think highly of themselves.

Samuel O. Satterfield, coordinator of the special project funded by the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, Title I, unveiled the hard hitting project Friday at the third annual conference for administrators and teachers of the mentally retarded and emotionally disturbed.

More than 450 men and women were registered at the Pioneer Inn for the two-day session. Among them were special class teachers, school psychologists, social workers, university personnel, speech therapists, occupational therapists and physical therapists from classrooms, hospitals, clinics and universities throughout the state.

"These boys were the cream of the 'toughs' at Wales and Kettle Moraine; they were criminally sophisticated and had run out their string because they made it impossible for these two training schools to operate with any semblance of order," Satterfield related.

In a program conceived jointly by the State Conservation Department, the Department of Health and Social Services and the Division of Corrections, "it was decided to get these kids out of circulation, put them in a place where they could work up a sweat, get tired enough to sleep at night — nothing more. Most of them had been sentenced five or six times and existing programs were doing nothing for them," he added.

Until one year ago the work and play treatment at the camp (spartan with its gymnasium, one pool table) had been a healthy experience, but relatively unproductive. Then ESEA's grant came through for a special project and a program was patterned somewhat after one at the National Training School for Boys, 1965-66. It was a kind of free-wheeling educational program, in which they received only food, clothing and shelter, unless they earned it.

Attesting to the naivety with which he and his staff waded youngsters defied brotherhood, sang patriotic songs and donated dry goods to be sent to the Congo.

In an hour long program, the

City Parkers Paid $16,173 In January

Appleton parking meters clicked with coins to the revenue tune of $16,173 during January, Treasurer Ray Feuerstein announced Friday.

He said it was just about a normal month with the East Ramp the pacesetter, collecting $3,415.

The West Ramp produced $2,448, and the take on the Soldiers Square Ramp amounted to $2,189.

On-street meters accounted for $4,599 and street level surface lots produced an additional $1,740.

The sale of parking decals spurred with revenue totaling $1,859.

A two-level addition to the East Ramp is to be constructed about June 1, city officials say.

Woman Injured in Two-Car Accident

Carmen F. Bolwerk, 1002 W. Oklahoma St., Appleton suffered an injured hand and knee about 1 p.m. Friday in a two-car accident at N. Bennett and W. Spring streets.

Mrs. Bolwerk, who was taken home by her husband, was driving south on Bennett when her auto was struck by a car driven west on Spring by Emory R. Gardner, 19, of rural Seymour. Gardner was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

Faulty Thermostat Causes Dryer Fire

A clothes dryer was damaged Friday afternoon when the clothes in it caught fire at the residence at 207 N. Lawe Street.
